This Week's Focus

Reading-

This week we continued to practice inside and outside character traits along with learning about making connections (text to self, text to text, text to media)

Writing-

This week we continued to work on our small moment stories making sure to have a beginning, middle, and end. We also worked on revising and editing with a checklist.

Math-

This week we continued our measurement unit. We compared our head to toe height to our wingspan length with nonstandard measurement units. We also began to tell time to the hour.

Science -

This week we learned about properties and how temperature can change matter. We completed a lot of fun experiments with pancakes, melting crayons, etc.
